„The developers at Klingele showed a great deal of understanding for our requirements and developed the optimum solution for us based on their experience and expertise. And that for a customer as crafty as us - we were very pleased!“

Christine Brugger,
CEO Organic Distillery

Drinks and Beverages Start-up

Brief Customer Info

Organic Distillery produces essences as well as gin and ginnie in organic quality for the upscale gastronomy and craft shops.

Task

A packaging concept for individual bottles in a shipping carton was required that reflected the ecologically oriented product philosophy and the high quality of the product. Efficient product protection, minimal handling effort, optimal feel and stable transport were also important.

Solution

Development of an attractive packaging concept for the individual bottles as well as for the transport packaging that meets the requirements in the company and in the trade. Different filling variants are possible and filling material are completely dispensable.
